Biosketch

Dr. Kaplan is a Professor in the Cumming School of Medicine at the University of Calgary. Dr. Kaplan is a gastroenterologist and epidemiologist who is internationally renowned for studying the global epidemiology of digestive diseases. Dr. Kaplan's research program establishes the global burden of digestive diseases, evaluates environmental determinants of the inflammatory bowel diseases (IBD), and translates this knowledge into improvement of care for patients living with digestive diseases. He graduated with a Master of Public Health from the Harvard School of Public Health and completed an IBD Fellowship at the Massachusetts General Hospital. He joined the University of Calgary in 2007 as a clinician-scientist with 80% protected time for research. He has over 350 publications with an H-index of 72 and over 27,000 lifetime citations (Kaplan, Gil - Web of Science Core Collection). As nominated principal applicant, Dr. Kaplan has held multiple operating grants from CIHR with continuous funding spanning from 2008 to 2025. He is the past chair of the Scientific and Medical Advisory Counsel of Crohn's and Colitis Canada (CCC), as well as the co-chair of CCC's National COVID-IBD Task Force. He is an Associate Editor of Gastroenterology and an Academic Editor for PLOS Med. He was inducted as a Fellow of the AGA and the Canadian Association of Gastroenterology. In 2019, Dr. Kaplan was selected to the International Organization of the study of IBD (IOIBD) and appointed co-chair of the Globalization IBD Task Force. Clarivate, Web of Science named Dr. Kaplan a Highly Cited Researcher (2020-2023) in recognition of being in the top one percent of cited researchers. In 2021, Dr. Kaplan received Crohn's and Colitis Canada's Research Leader Award and was inducted into the Canadian Academy of Health Sciences. He is a Killam Laureate, receiving the Killam Annual Professor Award in 2022. His research has been widely cited in the news media including Time Magazine, BBC, The New York Times, and Scientific American.

Research Interests

Inflammatory bowel disease, digestive diseases, epidemiology, global health, environmental health, health services, innovating healthcare delivery, administrative healthcare data, COVID-19 and IBD.
